The interface language (available in French, English or Dutch) can be chosen above right in the screen.

BEWARE: The identification fields are case sensitive (Company code, user Login and Password). So beware of the case used when you create a new account.

REGISTRATION

This homepage gives you an easy access to the registering form (link Create a new account). Type in all the data (including a personal login and password you can freely choose).

! Login specifications: Login and password should be at least 3 characters and identical when logging in under a VVVF supplier.

OPEN ACCOUNTS:

Some companies offer a public access to any registering user. In this case, you instantly get an e-mail with the chosen login and password. Your account is created and you can access immediately to the company documents.

LIMITED ACCOUNTS:

Other companies restraint their access to authorised users. In this case, you instantly get an e-mail with the chosen login and password but your account will only be available once your registration has been accepted by the administrator of the company.

- ➔ If the administrator refuses the registration, the account is deleted and you get an e-mail telling you that the access to the company account is refused. Otherwise, you get the message: "We are pleased to inform you that your account creation request is accepted."

You may create as many accounts as desired to access the different suppliers safety data sheets.

VVVF suppliers only require one registration to access all paint suppliers with a unique login/password.

PASSWORD RECOVERY

The homepage also includes a password recovery procedure should you forget your password. This procedure allows you to get a new password in one operation on all your accounts.

PROFILE

Once your password has been reinitialised, you can access your account and change it then into an easier and more personal code. To do this, go to the menu User Profile and click on Edit:

Dear Client,

Updates are now available on PubliChem. Our procedure requires that you acknowledge receipt of it by clicking on the link(s) mentioned below.

Once logged in, click on the View or Download button of the subscribed document to turn the subscription status into ACK.

Unless you follow the procedure, an e-mail will be sent every week from this day onwards.

Have a nice day,

The PubliChem Team.
